Little chords and octaves,

Little flats and sharps,

Make the tunes of angels

Play on golden harps.

Kookaburra sits in the old gum tree. Merry, merry king of The bush is he.

Laugh kookaburra,

Laugh kookaburra,

Gay your life must be.

In the hills of South Australia there is a little river with a big name—

the Onkaparinga. Once upon a time it flowed through a lovely valley full of apple trees and cabbage patches, pastures and gardens, redgums and poplars.

Age shall not weary them,

nor the years condemn.

At the going down of the sun,

and in the morning,

We will remember them.

Lest we forget.

Laurence Binyon from For the Fallen (1869-1943)

The page contains ten sets of handwriting lines. Each set is composed of three horizontal lines: a solid top line, a dashed midline, and a solid bottom line. These lines are spaced evenly down the page to provide a guide for letter formation and alignment.
